N. Y. A. C. Still Undecided as to the Proposed New Purchase.

Yale-Harvard Game to Be Played on the Old Lines.

Only at a general meeting of the members of the New York Athletic Club will the question of purchasing the property be decided. Each section will be represented. Each section will have the right to vote, and the matter is sure to provoke extensive discussion, and will be considered carefully and at great length.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors last night a report was read from a committee especially appointed to look into the proposition to purchase the Manhattan property from Mr. Adrian Iselin, who bought it under a foreclosed sale. The Club offers it for $100,000, those who have been asked to consider it have given their answer, and the balance of $100,000 is set aside.

The special committee reported further that changes necessary to be made in the Manhattan house would entail an expenditure of over $100,000, and that the Club would be compelled to contribute $100,000 to the cost of the new building.

Whatever the result of the meeting in the next general meeting, will be important, and action will likely wait for the next session.

Whatever the result, the game will be played,

as it was, on the old lines.

Walker Camps over his own principles, gives in his reasons why he objects to the competition over the undergraduate rule, and interposes with his usual frankness. Murphy and Wiggin went away to get a glass of beer before they parted, and I took the train home.

A brooding storm broke just as I reached my cottage, and glad enough was I to escape it. We had supper together, and went into the parlor, as usual. What a night it was to be sure!

A wild night, a bitter night, a night

when there seemed to be strange voices

in the wind, and those within the house were likely to fancy knocks upon their doors and windows. Murphy and Wiggin went away to get a glass of beer before they parted, and I took the train home.

Capt. Hitchcock rebuked Mr. Camp, and reclaimed that Mrs. Walker's intention to form
